

Summary

The basics and methods of designing home automation systems were defined in this work. Major ways of development of these systems were described. Testing prototype was modeled and created. The issues of life safety, a business plan were reviewed and payback period was calculated.