Annotation

In this thesis project developed an automatic system for monitoring and control of process water heating boiler plant, with visualization of the technological process in real time at the workstation, carrying out a dialogue "ACS operator."