

Summary

This degree project is dedicated to control system of iron ore separation . This work shows the basic requirements and the technical decision of logical module information-measuring system and offers structural scheme of the control. A control program for logical module Siemens Simatic S7-315-2 DP was developed by TIA Portal software. The basis of introduction of the developed system is confirmed by technical and economic calculations.