

Abstract

In this project maps the question of wireless access standard CDMA-450 Zhetisays area and the design and analysis of wireless communication system based on third generation equipment ZTE. Shows the main features of the system. Project calculated the coverage of base station, radius cell. Shows graphs of the number of subscribers. In addition, in the last two chapters deals with safety, business plan drawn up and calculated price development.