

Abstract

In this research paper will be examined the quality of the satellite network . Companion network - is a digital modulation scheme, which uses a large number of closely spaced orthogonal subcarriers.

In the life safety of the process will be reviewed and possible coverage of extreme cases.

In the economic part of the calculated cost of equipment, work on state payment. Conducted analysis and cost-effectiveness of satellite networks.