

Abstract

In this thesis project examines networking FTTH GPON technology in the residential complex "Valley of Roses" in Almaty.

In the technical section describes basic concepts and characteristics of technologies FTTH and GPON, presented calculations, the scheme of the projected area.

In the economic part of the payback period is determined by the project. In the section "Safety" is calculated natural and artificial light and vanishing