

Abstract

In this thesis project considered modernization the network with the provision of 4G services.

Also calculated the active length of the antenna to receive the signal attenuation in the AFL BS.

During the development of the project was drawn up a business plan to obtain an indicator which shows that the project is cost effective and the payback period is 1 year 4 months.

Also discussed were the issues of safety and security of life.