

Abstract

In this research paper we developed the question of deployment of wireless broadband subscriber access using LTE technology in the district center Uzynagash to provide users with a full range of modern communication services. Selected equipment company Huawei Technologies.

Calculations carried out: the number of subscribers; network coverage for LTE; gain of the system and others.

Courtesy of technical - economic justification and the issues of life safety.