

Annotation

In this thesis it is considered creation of system of business analytics on the example of information reference center of the cellular operator. Today the analysis and reports generation of any activities of the company is an integral part of its development. The complex analysis in all directions of business helps to increase efficiency and there arrived the companies. Relevance of a subject of this thesis is defined by these concepts.

.