

Abstract

In this thesis work has been developed HR information system, which is standardized, that is, with additional settings for any organization.

Thesis "The unified information system of the personnel department" was performed with the use of such software products as the Oracle 10g R2 database and object-oriented language Delphi environment RAD Studio.

During the thesis database was created and written by HR application is the user interface to work with this database.