

Summary

In this diploma project has developed a virtual reality application using 3D models on the Unity engine. The relevance of the project is that with the release of a new technology of virtual reality, the need for virtual programs for different specialties has appeared. The aim of the degree project is to create a virtual application for designers on the Android platform. The project used Unity 3D technologies, Google VR SDK, Unity programs, Android Studio.