

Annotation

In this thesis installation a detander – the generating unit of the Almaty CHP-1 is considered. In technical of a part of work problems of the scheme of heatpump installation, process of heating and expansion of methane in a detander, an expense of the heat carrier and power of the pump of low potential source of heat are solved. Also considered sections of the safety of life and economy.