

Annotation

This thesis work is carried out on the current topic: «Development of a model and of a technique for evaluating the functional safety of software for space purposes». The theme is based on the facts and complexities of objects, rockets and spaces technology and is caused by the variety of scientifics, socioeconomics and defensives tasks they solve. The main purpose of the thesis work is the development of methods for assessing the quality of software for space applications-performed.