

Annotation

In this graduation project developed a mobile system of technical terms dictionary "IT-dictionary". The first part of the project presents the General concepts of mobile applications and the basics of their construction.

The second section provides information about the uml diagrams used to design the system.

In the third section, the programming languages for creating the Android mobile application and the description of the system are shown in the diagram and shows the practical implementation of the project.

The fourth section discusses the economic feasibility of the project. That is, it was shown how much damage will be caused to the project.

In the fifth section, in the case jeckt that artificial lighting facilities for the work which survey, according to the order, by calculation.