

Annotation

This thesis is designed to develop an information network implementing the accounting process of the company "Creation of information model of activity of enterprise " To create an information network thesis was written in C#.

The problem of life safety was checked, during the development of the information network the coefficient of calculation of artificial light was calculated. Also in the economic section was determined the cost of labor, the cost of labor and efficiency.