Annotation

Subject of the graduation project: "Creating an adaptive program for the transition to the Latin alphabet for SP " Sultan Media "."

In this thesis project, the development of an adaptive converter for the transition to the Latin alphabet is implemented, the purpose of which is to convert the text or file that the user has selected. An economic calculation of the costs and costs of program development was also carried out, an assessment of the economic feasibility of the project being developed was carried out, and measures were proposed to improve production lighting.

The diploma project was made in the format of a web - application. To achieve the goal of the graduation project being developed, technologies such as HTML, CSS, PHP, Java script were applied.