

Annotation

In this thesis project in accordance with the requirements and tasks was carried out the development of an information system for automating the work of the fitness club administrator.

The subject of the research is a developed information system for a fitness club. In general, the work is aimed at creating an information system that allows to solve problems solved. The issues of life safety and working conditions are considered. The calculation of the cost of the graduation project and the payback period.