

ANNOTATION

The thesis examines in detail the wide scope of hardware encryption in the modern world, the structure of the hardware components . Attention is also paid to the history of hardware encryption history of origin, modern competitiveness. The algorithm of my device was implemented. The algorithm of our device was implemented in programming languages .The following chapters examine the overall cost–effectiveness as well as the illumination of the building.