

Annotation

In the project progress, the sorting manipulator was developed to sort objects by color. Existing industrial manipulators, their structure, operation principle and application were considered. A working prototype of the sorting manipulator was created. Solutions to ensure the staff safety during the operation of the manipulator were proposed. The assessment of economic efficiency from the implementation of this project was calculated.