

ANNOTATION

In this thesis project addresses the issue of ensuring safe working conditions at the enterprise. The purpose of this project is to study the working conditions at the enterprises of heavy industry on the example of a metalwork shop with the current method of production control. The introductory theoretical data and schemes are given. Analyzed the existing method of production control and developed measures to improve working conditions.

In the section «life safety» calculated the amount of harmful substances emitted into the air.

In the «Economy» section, the economic effect of implementing measures to improve working conditions in the enterprise is calculated.