

Abstract

In this thesis work presents modern, effective methods of recycling of solid waste abroad and in Kazakhstan.

The main content of the thesis is devoted to the characterization of the environmental status of the Karasai landfill of JSC “Tartip”, the analysis of monitoring studies on the environmental components of the landfill, the choice of effective disposal methods, and a number of recommendations to solve the problem of waste management.