

Annotation

In diploma project «Feasibility study of the project of boiler house reconstruction into the mini-CHP for industrial zone in the North of Kazakhstan» Reconstruction involves the introduction of a steam turbine. In this paper, the technical and economic indicators of the station were calculated, the corrective calculation of the TLU system was made, the comparison of the cost of energy supply before and after reconstruction was determined, and the hazard category of the enterprise was determined.