

Annotatoion

This thesis discusses the possibility of creating a system for supplying highly concentrated dust under pressure for the boiler BKZ-160-100, working on Ekibastuz coal. From the above materials and calculations it is clear that the LDPE system is economically efficient and effective in the environment - it is a reduction in emissions of harmful substances, that is, the reduction of nitric acid.