

Annotation

This diploma project presents modernization of ACHP by calculating the high-pressure heater. The thermal calculation of the station's principle thermal scheme has been made. In the BC section, the safety devices were calculated and fire safety was calculated. In the economic part, the economic efficiency of the modernization of the high pressure heater was calculated.