

Annotation

The graduation project is dedicated to the development of software for an automated accounting and control system, as well as directly the layout of the production process based on the Arduino Uno controller. Technological and operational issues are considered. The feasibility of this work is confirmed by a feasibility study.