

Annotation

The theme of the diploma project is «Design of a delta robot with artificial vision». During the graduation project, the kinematics and dynamics of the delta robot were studied, and an artificial vision program was developed. In the economic section, technical and price comparisons were made with design cost, price and market analogues. In the life safety section, welding waste used during construction was calculated.