

Annotation

The aim of this graduation project is to develop and study an exoskeleton of the foot based on artificial muscles. All questions regarding the exoskeleton and artificial muscles are examined. An artificial pneumatic muscle was developed, and experiments were also made with it.

The cost of creating artificial muscle is estimated. Fire safety measures have been developed.