Annotation

The basis of the diploma project is remote control of a smart city. Technological and operational issues are provided.Its program was developed automatically using an IOS-based mobile app. Research on the project's life safety has been conducted. In the economic part of this project, the costs were determined.