

Annotation

This diploma project provides for the development of an automated intelligent system with sensors that do not pump the water tank and do not allow the pump to operate in free mode. Based on the justification, a specific installation was developed and the following schematic diagram was formed . The project is realized in the form of a prototype which technical solution is confirmed with the feasibility study.