

Annotation

The theme of the graduation project is: «Development of automation system of smart Elevator of a residential building».

The automation and control system for residential elevators is connected to the IoT system. The importance of smart devices in the system of smart buildings is determined, a small model of a smart elevator is manufactured. To prove that the proposed project will be quick and viable, economic calculations will be made and life safety issues will be considered.