

Summary

The technological aspects of the access control and attendance accounting system have been considered in this work. The operation and application of the Raspberry Pi 3 microcomputer, RFID reader and LED, which are related to this graduate work, were described. The access control system was developed using these devices.

The project considers the issues of life safety, labor protection, and a business plan for the implementation of this system.