

Abstract

In this thesis, the impact of road transport on the state of the atmospheric air in Almaty is considered on the basis of the analysis of the traffic flow at the intersection of Abay-Brusilovsky streets with the calculation of emissions of harmful substances from road transport in the area of the intersection.

The work is devoted to the development of recommendations for reducing air pollution in the air basin, and offers effective methods for reducing emissions of pollutants for all types of road transport