

Annotation

The purpose of the diploma project is the development of an autonomous quadrocopter, the task of which is video surveillance and control of agricultural objects, with the function of tracking livestock using computer vision based on a single board computer Raspberry Pi. The technology of object recognition was chosen, namely the neural network model, the selection of component elements was made and the project was implemented with the working program code.