

Annotation

The purpose of the diploma project is to create an information system that will facilitate the employment of graduates of the department of IT-engineering.

PHP, HTML, CSS, JavaScript software tools and a MySQL database management system were used to create the information system. The diploma project consists of an introduction, five sections and a conclusion.

The information system is intended for employment of graduates of the department of IT Engineering. Employers of companies that cooperate with the Almaty University of Energy and Communications named after G. Daukeev can post a vacancy announcement through the information system, directly contact the graduate and find the right specialist.
