

Annotation

The topic of the thesis project: analysis of the application of fiber-optic data based on the Bragg lattice. In order to analyze fiber-optic sensors based on the Bragg solution, it is necessary to understand how these sensors work, the main types of sensors. Based on this information, it is necessary to consider the use of such sensors and make calculations for the technical justification of their use.