

Annotation

This dissertation paper provides an analytical review of the current state of MSW utilization and its impact on the environment. Monitoring of the state of the environment, calculation of the annual rate of solid waste accumulation in Almaty, as well as a method for processing MSW using worms, and subsequently obtaining a waste-free technology that allows you to obtain an environmentally friendly fertilizer-biohumus.